Visiting Fellows Application form

The Center regularly hosts visiting fellows for varying periods of time, ranging from a few weeks to an entire year. The intellectual life of the Center is greatly enriched by visitors from around the globe who bring fresh perspectives and questions, often reflecting their experience in a diversity of fields and schools of thought. Visiting fellows are welcomed and encouraged to participate in Center activities including the discussion groups, weekly colloquium lectures, and special events. Visiting fellows are provided office space in Heller Hall, library privileges, and internet access to a number of journals and index services. We are pleased to learn that you are interested in visiting the Minnesota Center for Philosophy of Science.
